

BA

ABSTRACT / ZUSAMMENFASSUNG / ABREGE

00117628.8

A data allocation method is provided, particularly for ADSL systems, in which the upstream and downstream bandwidths may overlap. Data is allocated in accordance with the requested data rate, and also with the priorities given to certain subcarriers.